SUNDAY SCHOOL GRADED.

The Institute at the Cloverport Baptist church last week was a very profitable one so far as the Cloverport school is concerned, but not so as to the schools of the county. Only three schools in the county were represented, Bewleyville, Irvington and Walnut Grove, each had two representatives present.

On Wednesday night State Secretary Louis Entzminger spoke on "Enlargement" or a house-to-house canvass to create the possibilities of the school. At the close of the service he called for volunteers to make the canvass the next day and a few responded. On Thursday the canvass was made, and it was found that there was a possibility for the Baptist Sunday School of 5, for the Methodist of 307, for the Presbyterian of 92. Those of the other faiths that have no church or school are included in the possibilities of the three schools named. There are about 125 Catholics in Cloverport. As a result of the canvass it is evident that the white population of Cloverport is between 1,000 and 1,100, allowing a margin for those who were missed in the canvass.

On Thursday night Mr. Entzminger spoke on "Grading the School," and on Friday night on "Class Organization." On Saturday night he spoke on "Maintaining a Graded School." At the close of the address on Saturday night, the church voted unanimously to have the school graded and elected the officers and teachers.

At the afternoon sessions, a training class was taught by Mr. Leavell. The textbook used was "The Graded School." A number heard the lectures and twelve took the written work and will receive seal number two which will be placed on their diplomas.

On Sunday morning the school was graded without the slightest friction. All took their places according to age, and the new classes were formed. The officers and teachers of the school as elected are:

Superintendent, C. E. Lightfoot; Assistant Superintendent, C. G. Brandt; Secretary, R. O. Willis; Assistant Secretaries, W. A. Roff and J. Jarboe; Treasurer, Lee Wood; Organist, Miss Beatrice McCracken.

The departmental superintendents are: Cradle Roll, Mrs. S. P. Conrad; Primary, Mrs. R. T. Polk; Junior, Mrs. Annie Tousey; Intermediate, Mrs. C. E. Lightfoot; Home Department, Bro. Lee Nelson and Mrs. F. T. Heyser.

The teachers are: Primary Department, 3 and 4 year old boys and girls, Mrs. Polk; 5 year old boys and girls, Mrs. Boyd; 6 year old boys and girls, Miss Anna Mabel Kramer; 7 year old boys and girls, Mrs. Lee Nelson; 8 year old boys and girls, Miss Ray Heyser.

Junior Department--Nine year old girls, Mrs. Cordrey; 10 year old girls, Mrs. Silas Miller; 9 and 10 year old boys, Walter Hawkins; 11 year old girls, Mrs. Tousey; 12 year old girls, Miss Maggie Wroe; 11 and 12 year old boys, Mr. Carl Lishen.

Intermediate Department--Girls 13 and 14; Mrs. Cottrell; boys 13 and 14, Mr. Barney Squires; girls 15 and 16, Mrs. Lightfoot; boys 15 and 16, ---.

Senior Department--Young men 17 to 30, Proctor Keith; young women 17 to 30, Miss Evelyn Hicks and Mrs. R. A. Oelze.

Adult Department--Men 30 and over, Mr. W. V. Perkins and Bro. Lee Nelson; women 30 and over, Mrs. Heyser and Mrs. Emma Mattingly.

At the eleven o'clock service Secretary Entzminger presented the Convention Normal Diplomas to a class of fourteen who have completed the first book in the Teacher Training Course. There are eight books in the course. Those receiving the diplomas are: C. E. Lightfoot, Mrs. Lightfoot, R. O. Willis, Mrs. R. L. Oelze, Mary Owen, Mrs. T. F. Heyser, Miss Ray Heyser, Mrs. Polk, Mrs. Tousey, Mrs. Nelson, Walter Hawkins, Miss Evelyn Hicks, Miss Anna Mabel Kramer, Miss Leah Payne, Bewleyville.

After the presentation of the diplomas, Mr. Entzminger spoke on "The Church's Obligation to the Church School." Much interest has been aroused in the Sunday School work, and it is expected that the school will have a large numerical increase. By the grading of the school it will be possible for the teachers to do much more satisfactory teaching. The graded lessons will be used in the primary and junior departments for the first time, and this will be a great help to the teachers as well as of great benefit to the pupils. Watch us grow.

Political Wisdom.

Dave Henry and Dr. S. P. Parks were in a heated discussion over the political situation. Mr. Henry remarked that the Bull Moosers would be like chickens, they would all come home to roost. The Doctor replied, all wise rats leave a sinking ship.

THE SCHOOL PATH

By Wilbur D. Nesbit In Good Housekeeping

Down the path and up the path to school he goes today,
Little does he know the path will lead so far away;
But I linger at the gate and watch him trudge the street,
Sorrowing for all the frets that wait his little feet.

Until now he was mine own, his only path led home;
Now it is a world-old-path that he sets out to roam.
He thinks that he will come back, but when he comes again
In his eyes will be the light caught in the world of men.

Always on, and never back, the path he takes must lead;
Out of all the world of dream, into the world of deed.
Trials there, and victories, and futile war and quest,
Now he takes the world-old paths that never gives us rest.

But the wonder of it all! The folk that he shall meet,
Heroes that are his to know, and royalty to greet;
He shall sail the sullen seas, Magellan-wise, and reach Alien land and barren strand and storm-swept reef and beach.

He shall fare through wondrous plains and climb the highest peaks;
He shall know the wonderlust that comes to him who seeks.
He shall hear the cannon roar and see the saber gleam,
He shall hear the bugle call across the reddened stream.

Oh, and he shall brother, too, with all the marvel minds,
Find the hidden truths that only he who conquers finds;
He shall tread the dusty halls where learning has been stored,
He shall share the treasury of learning's miser hoard.

But he laughs and runs along, nor knows how far it is;
He must plod in weariness upon this path of his.
He hears music in the tone that surges from the bell,
Yet all selfishly I hear the measures of a knell.

Down the path; and up the path to school he goes today,
Knowing not it leads to a world so far away.
He will come back home again, but will have left the joy
That was mine until today, when still I had my boy.

BRECKENRIDGE TEACHERS MEET.

County Capital Doors Thrown Open to Educators--Many Young People and Visitors Go to the County Teachers Institute--Mr. Tilford Present.

SCHOOLS ARE ALL CLOSED.

The annual Institute of the Breckenridge County Teachers is in session at Hardinsburg this week. "There's a crowd in town," said Mr. Davis Dowell yesterday morning when asked how many teachers were in attendance. Several of them are guests of friends, while others are boarding in private homes and hotels.

Mr. V. O. Tilford, of Frankfort, is conducting the Institute, and he is a most capable man for the place. He instills in the teachers determined purposes and unflagging resolutions for their year's work.

The program for the week is well filled with instructions and splendid lectures. Nearly all the teachers who could possibly attend, are present. Among them are: Prof. Culton, Prof. McCoy, Miss Ora Hendricks, Mr. Laslie, Misses Julia and Margaret Wroe of the Cloverport schools.

Comes From the South Ill.

P. D. Plank has been ill at his home in this city several days, suffering from malaria.

Building New Homes.

Pleasant Payne and Steve Davis, of Harned, are each building a nice cottage home in Harned. Arch Weatherford is building a tobacco barn on his farm near Harned.

Mrs. W. H. Henderson, of St. Louis, came Friday afternoon to be the guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Bate Washington.

Bate Washington is busily engaged in harvesting his crop. He has five acres of as fine white Burley tobacco as was ever grown in this section, his thirty acres of Boone County corn is making a fine show for a big yield.

Miss Katharine Wimp writes in glowing terms of her school work in Bethel College at Hopkinsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tanner and Master Hugh Tanner are in Hardinsburg for the Teachers Institute.

Herndon McGhee, of Rochester, New York, is here for a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. McGhee. This is Herndon's first trip home in fifteen years, in this period of time many changes have been wrought in the town and community. We are glad to know so many of our boys are making good in their chosen fields of labor.

Henry Trent, who has been living in Louisville, was here today to convey his household effects to Custer where he will make his home.

The School Improvement League will hold its next meeting Friday afternoon, October 11 at 3:15, there will be reports of interest, come and hear them.

Miss Viola Lewis entertained the younger society set Saturday evening at her home on Third St.

Mr. Brite, of Maceo, who has purchased a cottage on the corner of Third and Maple streets, is making extensive improvements and when completed will have a most attractive home. He and Mrs. Brite will move here about Oct. 1.

The Young People's Christian Society was organized at the Presbyterian church Friday evening. This society is a federation of the three societies which for the past year have had a struggling existence in the Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian churches. The meetings will be held on Friday evening of each week, the next being held at the Methodist church next Friday evening, September 27 at 7:15. This is a movement that should meet with the hearty approval of all.

James Snyder, a former resident of this section, but now of Walter, Oklahoma, is here for a visit to friends and relatives. He is now the guest of his niece, Miss Parthenia Jordan, and her brother, Dee Jordan.

There is a movement on foot to erect a Masonic Lodge room here. Plans looking to that event are being formulated.

A large representation from the Irvington School Improvement League will attend the Institute on League Day. We can show that we have done things this year.

Mrs. Ed. McAfee is at home from a visit to her sister, Mrs. Yeager, of Cloverport.

While returning from a trip to the country Thursday morning, Mrs. W. J. Piggott suffered a severe strain to her ankle. Her horse was frightened, by a thresher which had recently passed the highway, and jumped to one side of the road splintering the shaft, Mrs. Piggott jumped from the vehicle thereby sustaining injury.

Miss Angie Gibson is in Hardinsburg this week to attend the Institute.

WILSON-MARSHALL CAMPAIGN OPENING

In Kentucky Has Glorious Beginning at Lexington--Hon. J.
N. Camden, Chairman, Sounded the Keynote--Governor
McCreary Speaks Followed By Others.

BLIND SENATOR IS PRESENT.

Under the most auspicious circumstances, with the skies bright and the air invigorating, and amid historical and encouraging surroundings the campaign in Kentucky for the election of Wilson and Marshall was inaugurated at Woodland Park, Lexington, Thursday, after a memorable march to the grounds to the music of dozens of bands with thousands of voters keeping step.

As chairman of the auditorium audience, Hon. Johnson N. Camden, who is also Chairman of the Democratic Campaign Committee, sounded the keynote of the campaign, and he was followed by Governor McCreary, Speaker Champ Clark, blind Senator Gore, Senator Ollie James, Owsley Stanley, Swager Sherley and other distinguished Democrats, who told the story of the achievements and hopes of a reunited and militant Democracy, which fired the Democrats' hearts with enthusiasm and determination to help roll up the largest majority in Kentucky since the immortal Tilden carried it by sixty thousand on the platform, the principal plank of which declared for a tariff for revenue only. Every one of the many thousands of Democrats who gathered at Lexington seemed to be thrilled with the inspiration of the times and confident that the lean years for Democracy are almost ended, and that deliverance will come in the election of our matchless ticket. It was indeed a glorious beginning of a fight that will end with one of the most famous victories of modern times.

dinner guests of Mrs. L. B. Moremen Sunday.

Mrs. Charles Acme and daughter, of Louisville, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Adkins.

Make your plans to attend the Arbor Day celebration at the new Graded School building Friday, October 29. Select your trees now--a nice elm, maple or box elder, you will make no mistake if you select chiefly water maples.

TAKE YOUR CITIZENSHIP SERIOUSLY

From The Commoner

In its issue of September 9, the Richmond (Va.) Times-Dispatch printed a short editorial that ought to be read in every precinct, in every state of the union and posted up on every schoolhouse, and in every counting room and factory of the land. Here it is: "There is nothing more important than that we should take our citizenship seriously. Some people take it as a joke, some as a game, some as a selfish purpose and some as a chance to help friends or grind axes. No man is worthy of citizenship unless he regards it as a mission and uses it for the common good to free his fellowmen from every kind of servitude and oppression and make them their own levers to raise themselves to better estate. Citizenship is a duty, and every man who has a high ideal of life, who makes it brave and serviceable, has a right to be called a citizen and no other should be enrolled upon the roll of honor. A citizen is a man who honors his city, his state and his nation by living right and doing good. Such a one regards citizenship seriously. The duty of citizenship is committed to each man as a trust to be discharged always for the common welfare and the higher purpose. A ballot is to be used for the benefit of mankind and not for the advantage of individuals."

IS MADE A DUMPING GROUND

Salvation Army the Not Altogether Willing Recipient of All Kinds of Spoiled Food.

If the pure food commissioners ever get after the Salvation Army's commissary department they will no doubt make an interesting raid.

"The stuff they would confiscate is not the output of our kitchens," said an army collector. "It is donated by people who have made a mess of what they tried to cook. This morning a woman telephoned that a ten-pound fruit cake and a jar of currant jelly had not turned out satisfactorily, and I could have them for the trouble of calling for them. I went. The cake is pretty heavy and the jelly is not jelled, but I think the ingredients are pure, so we are going to distribute the stuff among our poor families. Unfortunately all donations are not so innocent. Bread and cake solid enough to sink a gunboat and chunks of meat so poorly cooked that not even a French chef could turn them into a savory stew are sent in by incompetent cooks. Where people ever got the notion that the Salvation Army is a dumping ground for undesirable eatables is a mystery. We certainly never asked for them."--

Had Terrible Experience.

While his two little children watched at his side, a resident of San Jose, Cal., named Gothberg, lost consciousness and tossed for nearly four days not long since in delirium, in the canyon of the Saratoga creek near Congress Springs. During all this time the children were almost without food and with but little to shelter them from the weather. The man left San Jose to visit a friend on a ranch near Castle Rock on the summit above Saratoga. He had gone as far as Saratoga when he became ill, but managed to get some distance up the road towards Congress Springs before he was overcome and had to stop. The father fell asleep and raved in delirium. Faithful to their father, the children stayed by his side during three days and three nights with only some canned meat to eat. For a shelter they stretched two blankets over the top of the fence and huddled under this poor protection. The party, when found, were taken to the county hospital, where Gothberg did not regain consciousness for some time.

YOUNG WIFE SAVED FROM HOSPITAL

Tells How Sick She Was And What Saved Her From An Operation.

Upper Sandusky, Ohio. -- "Three years ago I was married and went to housekeeping. I was not feeling well and could hardly drag myself along. I had such tired feelings, my back ached, my sides ached, I had bladder trouble awfully bad, and I could not eat or sleep. I had headaches, too, and became almost a nervous wreck. My doctor told me to go to a hospital. I did not like that idea very well, so, when I saw your advertisement in a paper, I wrote to you for advice, and have done as you told me. I have taken Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, and now I have my health.

"If sick and ailing women would only know enough to take your medicine, they would get relief." -- Mrs. BENJ. H. STANS-BURY, Route 6, Box 18, Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

If you have mysterious pains, irregularity, backache, extreme nervousness, inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait too long, but try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound now.
For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and such unquestionable testimony as the above proves the value of this famous remedy and should give every one confidence.

PLENTY OF MONEY IN ITALY

Burden of Financing the War With Turkey Has Not Been Appreciably Felt by the People.

An illustration of the hitherto unsuspected prosperity of Italy is the fact that she has not had to borrow a cent of foreign money for the expense of her war with Turkey. This war had cost Italy up to May 11 $17,880,000, or just $210,000 a day, since it began on September 27, 1911.
Nevertheless, her 3 1/2 per cent. government bonds are quoted in the markets of Europe between 97 and 98, varying of course, from day to day. Bonaldo Stringher, director general of the Bank of Italy, has just made an official report stating that Italian emigrants send at least $90,000,000 a year back home, while tourists spend almost if not quite as much in Italy.
Either one of these sources of wealth would more than suffice to pay the entire expenses of the war. Money is so abundant in Italy that when popular subscriptions were opened in many cities for military aeroplanes to be presented to the government, the lists were filled in a few days, the total amount of the subscriptions far exceeding those of a similar nature in France, in spite of the wave of popular enthusiasm for aeroplaning in the latter country. It is worthy of note that this war has cost Italy in human lives only 52 officers and 549 men, according to the official figures, an unprecedentedly small loss for eight months of active warfare.

Miss Kelley Gives Up Big Salary To Marry.

Washington, Sept. 18.--Announcement has been made that Margaret Valentine Kelley, who, until the appointment of Julia Lathrop as Chief of the Children's Bureau, was the highest salaried woman in the employ of the Government, is to wed in the near future. Her fiance is Major Robert Callon, of the Coast Artillery.

Miss Kelly is a native of New Hampshire. She came to Washington without political "pull," started from the bottom of the civil service ladder and climbed by hard work and close application.

Miss Kelly as Acting Directory of the Mint could be "Acting Secretary of the Treasury." President Taft appointed her assistant to Director of the Mint.

Husband Called Her Fat.

Mrs. Tessie Marcusson filed a suit for separation from Leo Marcusson on the ground of cruelty. One of her chief allegations is that on many occasions he taunted her on account of her size and weight. She said last May he came home one night, awakened her and thrust in her face a newspaper advertisement of a remedy to reduce weight and advised her to use it. Mrs.
Marcusson also said that a letter was sent to her from a Denver concern advertising treatment for stout women.
It was an answer to a request for information. She believes her husband had the letter sent to humiliate and distress her.

Green Keller Dead.

Carlisle, Ky., Sept. 18--Green R.
Keller, editor of the Carlisle Mercury and Representative of the State Legislature from the Nicholas-Robertson Legislative District, died suddenly of stomach trouble at his home on Main street here this evening at 5:50 o'clock in his sixty-eighth year. He was one of the best-known newspaper men in this section and was one of the Democratic leaders in the Legislature last winter.

Booth and Oxford.

"Through evil report and good report, and in spite of much physical disability, he slowly came into his own. To one who is aware of his beginnings and lifelong imitations it seems almost grotesque that staid, conservative Oxford--so jealous of her learning, so hearty in her abhorrence of "the Philistines"--should have conferred on this man her degree of Doctor of Civil Law; but Oxford did it, and Booth deserved it. For into the very heart of Oxford and of all of decent English Booth had driven his own conviction that the most venerable of human laws are but a dead letter unless and until they are suffused and applied by the Higher Law of Love.
All over the world there are thousands of well-to-do people who owe it to General Booth, and his blatant, conspicuous reminders, that they did not quite forget "Who is My Neighbor?"-- The Churchman.

Teddy Shut Out The Coon.

Hi diddle de diddle!
Old Taft tore up the flag,
Teddy kicked the cabin over the moon,
The G. O. P. said, "I be --" when

Successful Farmer

Not having seen anything in your paper for some time from our part of the commonwealth, I write to let you know that we are at the same old place on the south bank of the Ohio river about 60 miles west of the Metropolis of the State.

We may not have quite so much hog and hominy as down in the Pennerle or so much blue grass and mountain dew as in the district above us, but we are living at peace with our neighbors, and when we deliver the present crop of tobacco and crib the corn we will have enough to do and some to spare. I notice report from the agricultural department for September places the crops generally above the average which is true with us with some exceptions, owing to too much rain early, and lately tobacco has fired on the hill
so badly it will cut the quantity down considerably. Have had fine weather for curing peas lately, which we have a good crop of and which is one of the best crops we can raise. But our farmers should quit buying their seed.
Save them from their own crop. Pastures good, rather dry now. Stock looking well. --A subscriber. --Farmer

CHILD'S WORDS

mount To Nearly Two Thousand--It Can Memorize That Many In Three Years--Vocabulary Wonderful.

Take a paper and pencil, follow the child for several days, several weeks, putting down every new word that is uttered. And when the word "child" is used, it does not refer to a boy or girl seven or eight, but one of three.

An investigation recently made by following a child at that age and noting every word that was used showed that it had memorized 1,771 different words. They covered practically everything with which the child came in contact, and were words the child had never heard before.

Another investigation of words used by children between 16 months and 19 months old showed that the lowest vocabulary that was reported included the use of sixty words. The highest was 232 words. From two years on the vocabulary of a child increases rapidly, until at three years the average child has a vocabulary of at least 1,000 words. —Answers Magazine.

Hats From Shavings.

Many of the handsome summer hats worn by the ladies are made of shavings. It is said that the finest examples of this industry are the product of Japan, where these wooden ribbons appear in divers forms, certain of which possess almost the sheen and delicacy of satin, while others show a decided resemblance of soft and dainty crepes.

It appears that only about fifteen per cent. of the chip is exported in the form of wooden ribbons, the remainder being worked into what is known to commerce as "chip braid." This is utilized in the same manner as straw braid—that is, for hats, baskets, and similar articles.

The exports from Japan in a single year have approximated a million dollars, the United States being a large buyer. The trade is steadily increasing, inasmuch as the industry is a comparatively new one. While willow is considerably used in Germany, the Japanese manufacturers employ European poplar, spruce, Chinese cypress, cherry, buckeye, paulonia, false hickory, and other kinds of wood. The chip is produced by planing with special tools, the shavings being about fifteen inches long and one and a half inches wide.

The product is very easily dyed, and it is of such thinness and flexibility that the daintiest effects in millinery goods can be obtained. —Harper's Weekly.

Chinese Merchants' Way

Of Keeping Fresh Fruit

It is a common practice of fruit merchants in China to keep perishable fruits in fresh condition by the use of large and very thick earthen jars. A quantity of broken ice is put in the bottom of each jar and upon this is placed a woven wicker basket in which the fruit is kept. The jar is closed with a wooden cover which often has a strip of felt around it to make the insulation as complete as possible. Dr. Myer says it is wonderful how well this simple contrivance serves its purpose. —American Wine Press.

Chairman Henry DeH. Moorman is planning for a big Democratic rally at Hardinsburg some time next month.

President Taft has decided to put all fourth-class postmasters in the civil service. This order will effect 36,038 postmasters.

The Democratic Campaign officials are beginning to get busy in this county. A word in time will make many a vote for Wilson.

The Henderson Route is getting its track, effected by the big slide, in first-class order. They have moved mountains of dirt and rock to do it.

Progressive farmers first plan to raise something to eat—enough to run them through the year—and then plan for the money crop. It is poor management to raise a big tobacco crop and buy meat and bread and potatoes.

The Lighthouse Service of the United States costs about $5,000, 000 a year. Most of it is spent for lighting the coasts. The Light house keepers along the Ohio river come in for their share of Uncle Sam's millions used this way.

Visit the Cloverport Graded and High School Friday morning. You will be delighted to see the spirit of enthusiasm the scholars and teachers have. The many improvements of the school building show what a splendid, wide-awake School Board Cloverport has.

Many small town stores over the state are competing with the city merchants by getting their new fall goods early and advertising them judiciously. The attraction of new materials, new hats and new shoes can not be resisted. Where they are, the crowd will follow.

A prominent Republican of this county, and a man who has a line on things political, says that Wilson and Marshall will carry Kentucky by 75,000 plurality. That Roosevelt would not get exceeding 500 votes in Breckenridge, and that the Democrats would carry the county by 300. This surely sounds good coming from a Republican who never gives up until he has to.

Now that it gets dark so early several persons who like to carry lanterns already have them trimmed and burning. One attractive woman, who is quite initiative and has not gotten to the lantern age, has a novel way of lighting her path. She always carries a few matches in her hand and never goes down a step or crosses an uncertain place without first lighting a match to see that the way is clear.

Did you ever have trouble trying to keep track of your glasses? That spectacles just will walk off and can't be found when they are most needed is a well-known fact in every house-hold. One Cloverport house-keeper has got her heart's delight—she has four pair of spectacles. One pair for the telephone box, one pair for the sewing machine, one for reading and one pair of byfocals. "I have four pair of glasses," she said Monday delighted, "and they all see different."

Paul Compton, cashier of the Bank of Hardinsburg and Trust Company, says the business of his bank is bigger and better than ever in its history. Our loans in Breckenridge county to farmers, stock men and business men of all classes amount to over $345,000, and yet we can't supply the demand. We could loan $50,000 in a week, he said, if we had it. This shows that business is good and active in this county, and that the farmers especially are very active in their line.

The Cincinnati Enquirer's poll of Kentucky shows to date: 2,230 votes for Wilson, 696 for Taft, 1,321 for Roosevelt and 111 for Debs. It also shows the change of 19 Democrats to Republicans, 192 Republicans to Democrats, 101 Democrats to Progressives, and 508 Republicans to Progressives. According to this showing the prediction of our good Republican who says Wilson's plurality in the State will be 75,000 won't be very far wrong. While all this sounds good, and looks good, there is one thing the Democrats have to do, get out and vote.

That opportunities to be accomodating are unlimited is clearly proven every day. Last Tuesday one of the colored men who drives a delivery wagon in town was telling about the good food he has now. He takes a basket to a certain hotel every day and gets enough for 25 cents to do him for two meals. Pains are taken to fill his basket generously and no one, perhaps, except the colored man, can appreciate the kindness of this hotel. Kindness goes out the back door as easy as it does the front—and while the world does not always see it until last it is usually first in sincere motives and genuineness.

GOV. WILSON

In Chicago--Nominee's First Visit To Western Metropolis Since Nomination--Pure Food Real Issue.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 19—Gov. Woodrow Wilson made his first public appearance in Chicago since he was nominated as the Democratic candidate for president today. He arrived here from St. Paul, and was taken from his private car by automobile to the Democratic headquarters. About 50 automobiles, filled with leaders of the party, from all parts of the country, were in the parade that formed to follow the presidential candidate.

Wilson received all visitors who came through the headquarters and was kept busy shaking hands until 15 minutes before his train left for New York.

Hall-Miller.

Miss Rosie Hall and Mr. Frank Miller were married in Cannelton at the court-house Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The marriage ceremony was said by Rev. Bolen, pastor of the Baptist church. They returned home that evening. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Hall. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jessa Miller, of Holt.

Telling A Horse's Age.

The age of a horse may be judged by the appearance of the teeth because on the upper surface of the incisors a hollow is to be seen in the young tooth, which, not extending through the whole substance, naturally wears out with the wear of the tooth, and as a considerable degree of regularity occurs in the wearing away in all horses, it has been adopted as a general criterion of age.—Kansas City Star.

A Tangle.

A case of singular corruption on the part of an attorney caused Miss Jane Addams, the Chicago welfare worker, to say at Hull House:

"This case reminds me of a man who was being tried for the theft of a ham. The opposing lawyers shuffled so, they confused the witnesses so, they so strained their own statements—in a word, they got the case into such a formidable tangle of falsehood and mendacity that at last the prisoner, in a tremulous voice, spoke up and said:

"Judge, if you'll make them lawyers set down and shut up for a minute, I'm willing to whirl in and tell the truth."

DUCK RIDES ROOM OF FLIES

Management of Chicago Hotel Will in the Future Pin Its Faith to Domestic Bird.

The manager of a big Chicago hotel has found a very simple solution of the fly problem. It is a flock of ducks.

The ordinary hotel perhaps has no particular accommodations for live ducks; but in this there is a fountain in the center of the approaches to the various dining rooms. The fountain has a large basin, and just by way of novelty the manager several months ago placed a few ducks in the water. They paddled around and enjoyed it, and the guests enjoyed seeing them. But, better still, the ducks also enjoyed the flies that attempted to enter the dining rooms and feast upon the good things therein. The flies—in Chicago, at least—fly low; and ducks, as any one who has ever seen them knows, are especially quick in catching insects. The consequence is, this particular hotel, once troubled with flies, now has practically none. And the ducks, once lean to verge of scrawny, are fat and sleek.

The duck method of disposing of the fly nuisance cannot, of course, obtain in private households to any degree; but in this particular hostelry the ducks have caused the wire fly swatter and traps to be thrown into the ash heap.

Perhaps next year the enterprising manager will attach some sort of a meter to every duck, so that at the end of the season he can tell how many flies each busy fowl has disposed of with neatness and despatch.

GERMANY LAST OF EMPIRES?

Kaiser Wilhelm, With Prophetic Eye, Foresees the Inevitable Coming of Triumphant Republics.

"My son will be the last of the emperors," Kaiser Wilhelm is said to have told the historian, Karl von Kroon, recently. "All the world will be republican within 50 years. Germany will be the last of the empires. It is inevitable."

The kaiser is credited with being a far-sighted politician as well as an able upholder of his prerogative as a sovereign. He sees the drift of the times as other crowned heads see it. Monarchy is passing, even in England. It has passed in France and Portugal; it has become merely nominal in other European countries. Even China has become a republic. Germany is conservative on the subject, no doubt because it has had excellent rulers. From an American point of view it seems likely that the last nation to change, as the kaiser prophesies—to be even later than Russia.

Monarchism, like feudalism, has had a proper place in the evolution of civilization, but, like feudalism, it must go. There have been a few real kings and queens whose work for the world has been great, and the ideal of kingship, as Carlyle paints it, inspires high sentiments and noble deeds. But this is an age in which kings and queens have little to do and in which education is so widely diffused as to make the real leaders recognizable as the need of them arises. The world progresses politically as it progresses materially, intellectually and morally.

How to Get Rich.

One of the richest men of a certain Indiana county is known as well by his penurious habits as by his bank account. A short time ago he invited an old friend to dine with him. Accepting the invitation, the friend was piloted to one of the cheapest "hotels" in the place and two dinners were ordered at 25 cents each. A second cup of coffee was ordered by the guest and when he finished it the pair, after the bill of 55 cents was paid, meandered out on the street. Noticing his host's downcast expression and silence, he asked what had come over him.

"Nothing," said the host.

"But something must be wrong," said his friend.

"Well," said Croesus, "I can't understand how my bill was 55 cents."

"Oh," said the guest, "I had a second cup of coffee—but I'll pay for it."

He at once took a nickel out of his pocket and Croesus accepted it.—Indianapolis News.

Getting Ready For Methodist Conference.

Next Wednesday the annual conference of the Methodist church will be held in this city and will continue for five days. It is the intention of Rev. E. F. Goodson, pastor of the local Methodist church that this conference will surpass all that have been previously held by this church. At first it was thought that it would be difficult to find board for the many visitors who would be here, but the women of Morganfield soon volunteered and now arrangements have been completed whereby the more than three hundred guests will be entertained at the private homes of Morganfield. Rev. E. F. Goodson, it is thought will be retained in Morganfield as he has been here only three years, which according to the law of the church will permit him staying here another year.—Morganfield Correspondent in Uniontown Telegram

JOHN B. JOHNSON HAS REMARKABLE EXPERIENCE

John B. Johnson, of Louisville, arrived Saturday night to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Johnson, on the pike. He said when he was in the government service for Uncle Sam that he had a most remarkable experience one day aboard the U. S. transport Buford in Bearing Sea, enroute to the United States from Nome city. Going down the hatchway he saw a paper on the floor and his eye caught the letters "Breck." He picked it up and it was The Breckenridge News. He was completely mystified, for how it came there was a mystery. No one was on the ship from home except his brother and him. It had been many days since they had seen a Breckenridge News. That happened in 1906 and Mr. Johnson relates the occurrence with much interest.

BOYS' HANDICRAFT

By A. NEELY HALL

Author of "Handicraft for Handy Boys" and "The Boy Craftsman"

FIG. 1.
A BIRD ARK.

FIG. 5.
A BIRD COTTAGE.

FIG. 2.

FIG. 4.

TWO EASILY MADE BIRD HOUSES.

It is a simple matter to induce the birds to build their nests near our homes if we but provide suitable shelters. These must be so situated that the birds will not only have ample protection from cats and other bird enemies, but have the feeling of security, and of course the houses must be firmly fastened so they will weather the severest of storms. If you have a back yard, the problem of finding secluded locations is an easy one, and a garden near by that will furnish seeds and insects, and a fresh supply of water for drink and bath are additional inducements which will make your chances of securing bird tenants almost certain.

A common box, properly arranged, is just as much of an attraction to birds as a house on which a large amount of time has been spent in working out ornamental roofs, steeples and doorways, but of course for the sake of appearances, a house should be of a neat design and be carefully built.

The bird ark shown in Fig. 1 is one of the simplest houses a boy can make. A starch box, or a box of about the same proportions, should be used for this. Partition off the inside of the box into two compartments, as shown in Fig. 2, and bore a hole through each end, near one corner, for doorways. Then nail the cover boards to the box. You will notice that the box is mounted cornerwise upon its support; this is done so the adjacent sides of the box will form a pitched roof that will shed water readily. The eaves of the roof are formed by nailing strips of the length of the roof boards to their edges, and for the projections over the ends four strips should be cut similar to that shown in Fig. 3, and nailed to the end edges of the roof boards.

If you support the house upon the top of a post, prepare two blocks with right-angled "bird's mouth" cuts in them (Fig. 4), and nail these to the sides of the post. Then fasten the box to the blocks. Drive a short peg into a hole bored below each end doorway, for a perch stick.

To prevent cats and squirrels from reaching the ark, a wide, projecting collar of tin or sheet iron should be fastened around the post one foot or so below the top.

The bird cottage shown in Fig. 5 contains three compartments. The lower portion may be made out of a box of about the size used for the ark, but better results will be obtained by building the entire house. Box boards will be good enough material. Divide the lower story of the cottage through the center, as in Fig. 6, and fasten the second story floor to the top of the partition and side walls. Cut the roof boards of the proper lengths and widths to form projections at the eaves and over the front, and after nailing them to the side walls of the house, cut the gable-end boards to fit between the roof boards and fasten them in place.

Cut the doorways in the positions indicated in Fig. 5, and fasten a perch beneath each. Instead of pegs, window-sash "lifts," drawer "pulls," screw-eyes, and many other small pieces of hardware may be used for perches. The bracket support for this house is easy to make, as you will see by Figs. 5 and 7, and on account of the wide projection of the top and back members, over the triangular piece, it can be screwed or nailed to both the under side of the house and to the wall, thus providing a very strong means of fastening.

Do not paint the inside of your bird houses, but give the outside a couple of coats of green paint of about the shade generally used for flower boxes.

GREAT CROWDS AT BLACKPOOL

Multitude That Flocked to English Seaside Resort Impressed W. D. Howells, Veteran Traveler as He Was Acknowledged.

"Whenever we said we were going to Blackpool," writes W. D. Howells in the Atlantic, "it seemed to fill our English friends with surprise and pleasure. They asked why we were going to Blackpool, and when we tried to say they laughed the more.

"We were, in fact, so high in the social scale through our friendships that we might never have heard of Blackpool if it had not been for one of the most liberal of our acquaintances who had noted some years before our interest in the popular crowd at Llandudno, and told us we ought to see Blackpool.

"He tried to enlighten our dense superiority by explaining that Blackpool was the seaside resort beyond Liverpool of the whole cotton spinning and iron casting country, and that masters and men alike thronged it in the season, and masters lavished their gains and the men their earnings in one mad month or wild week of unattained gaiety.

"Before this in writing of English things I have had occasion to intimate that many of them afforded exercise for that modesty which is always really the heart of American brag. Whether the scale in England is so small generally that any variation from it seems prodigious or whether the things are really great, I am not ready to say, but in that little island there are certainly things that impress one as great.

"London, for example, unquestionably outdoes any city of ours. New York is a large town, but New York, except for her high grade of intelligence, could easily be lost in London. The only thing in which we excel England beyond parallel and peradventure is the spectacular purity of our municipal administrations and our freedom from graft in civic affairs.

"If you come, however, to something like the crowd on the promenade at Blackpool, you have several other English crowds to compare it with. You have the crowds at Folkestone, at Margate, at Brighton, which, although they are vastly smaller, are so much larger than any American seaside crowds that there is no talking in the same breath except of Atlantic City alone at Easter time.

"If you are there then, at that point where the myriads of the Board Walk thicken for a consoling moment under the eye of the camera scanning it for a postal card photograph, you can have some notion of the crowd forever writhing, forever worming, squirming up and down at Blackpool.

"Dreadful enough to look at, the mammoth mass became terrible when you fused yourself in its bulk. It seemed the same in bulk by night and by day; it must have slept some time, perhaps not in bulk but in detail, each atom that sank away to slumber replaced by another atom fresh for the vigil; of it if it slept in bulk it was in some somnambulant sort, with the sense of a bad dream, a writhing and twisting nightmare.

"It was always awful to look upon, but awful at high noon, when it had swollen to its hugest and was imaginably famishing for lunch with the hunger of some consuming insect horde. Possibly I am exaggerating in the impression I am trying to give of the Blackpool crowd. Doubtless any happy couple, near wed or newly wed, of those that abounded in the mass could prove me grotesquely mistaken, if not wilfully false. They could say that they had the time of their lives that day at Blackpool and could ask nothing better than to repeat their transport."

PAPER BAG COOKING

Great System Perfected by M. Soyer, Famous London Chef.

COOKING THE LORDLY TURKEY.

By Martha McCulloch Williams.
The lord of the winter party or wedding anniversary feast is, of course, the turkey—and know ye, good housewives, one and all, that he can be cooked to a delicious turn by M. Soyer's method of paper bag cooking! In fact, the entire dinner can be prepared and cooked to perfection in paper bags, and after it has been eaten to the last turkey bone and last slice of pumpkin pie, the good housewife will not be confronted by a great pile of pots and pans to be cleaned—a task that has taken the edge off the happiness of many a housewife who has served one of her old-time famous meals for her guests, or her children back home to help the old folks celebrate their anniversary.

Grape fruit, with rum, is, to my mind, the ideal appetizer, but if oysters are insisted upon, put three small raw ones in the middle of the prepared fruit and season with salt, pepper, Worcester sauce and tobacco. Keep the oysters very cold, and add them to the fruit very shortly before serving, thus the two flavors remain distinct to accent rather than to muddle each other.

Salted Nuts—I made two bags—almonds and pecans—and hereafter shall never buy them ready prepared. The almonds were blanched and dried, the pecans, brought ready hulled, picked over, scalded by pouring boiling water through them in a colander, and instantly dried. Then both were put in thickly-buttered bags, set in a very hot oven for half a minute, then the heat was reduced three-quarters, and the nuts left to brown for ten minutes. They came out crisp and beautiful, needing only a sprinkling of salt.

The Toasted Crackers I prepared were tiny oyster crackers, as fresh as possible. They were put in buttered bags, lightly sprinkled after they were in, with melted butter skimmed clean of froth, then given a tablespoonful of grated Parmesan, which was shaken well through them before sealing the bag. Sealed, it went into a very hot oven, which after two minutes had the heat turned as low as possible. Eight minutes of it made them not quite brown enough—a peep-hole in the bag top assured me of that—so I left them in three minutes longer. A few of them stuck together, but in the main, they looked as good as they tasted.

The Turkey.—Choose him as young, as tender, as fresh as you can. But if by ill chance you must take an old bird, therefore a tough one, then, indeed, you will find in paper bag cooking, succor from the sorrow of toughness. A tough bird will require a lot of grease in the bag with it, also long and slow cooking. But the end will crown the means—he will come forth tender and delicious, also well browned, but not too brown, and simply bursting with juice. Extra care must be taken in trussing him—tie down legs and wings beyond any possibility of springing. Tough fowls have a way of stretching out their joints under the influence of heat, that, without this precaution, may make the legs and wings dangerous to the integrity of the bag.

Get the bird in hand early—the night before if possible. If he comes drawn, so much the better; if in a state of nature, pick, draw and singe at once, taking pains to get off all pinfeathers, and cutting out the oil-bag upon the "parson's nose"—otherwise known as the root of the tail feathers. Wash the bird thoroughly in very cold water. If there is the least sour smell, scald out by pouring through boiling soda water, followed by a cold rinse water. Drain well, wipe dry, inside and out, salt very lightly, and hang up in a cold place until morning—outside, unless the temperature is below freezing, or there is danger of thieves, four of two-footed. A city housewife will do well to cover the turkey while thus hanging out with either a loosely fitting grocer's paper bag or a square crash or cheese cloth. This keeps away soot and dust, which, once settled on the skin, defy washing off. Get the stuffing ready before taking in the bird. Dash cold water over and through it before putting in the stuffing, wipe inside and out with a soft, damp cloth, then resalt but very lightly outside and in.

Since the turkey is apt to require the whole oven and long, slow cooking, better put him on early, and take him up before beginning the other things.

Time For the Farmers' Innings.

One of the most effective speeches that has been delivered by Governor Wilson during the campaign was that at the farmers' picnic at Washington Park, New Jersey. It was especially prepared for the farmers, who the Governor showed never occupied the center of the stage in politics, and were little considered in legislation. The farmers have demanded no protection, but everything they buy is protected by a heavy tariff which in most cases goes into the pockets of the trusts instead of helping to pay the expenses of the Government. When tariff bills are considered it is the interests that ask to be heard. Who ever thought of the farmers asking to be heard?

"It is time," said Governor Wilson, "for you to break into your own house and live there. I want you to examine very critically the tenants who have been occupying it. It is a very big house and very few people have been living in it."

This good advice, to the farmers is applicable to all classes that have received little consideration at the hands of the Republicans. There seems to be a general desire for a house cleaning, and it will come in November, if every Democrat does his duty as we are sure they will do when they have such an excellent chance to get possession of the Government, which the Republicans have so long mismanaged.

Farmers, mechanics, railroaders, laborers, rely on Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil. Fine for cuts, burns, bruises. Should be kept in every home. 25c and 50c.

Live A Little.

Give a little, live a little, try a little mirth;
Sing a little, bring a little happiness to earth;
Smile a little, while a little idleness away;
Care a little, share a little of your holiday.
Play a little, pray a little, be a little glad;
Rest a little, jest a little if a heart is sad;
Spend a little, send a little to another's door—
Give a little, live a little, love a little more!
—Douglas Malloch.—Farmers Home Journal.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for much sickness and suffering, therefore, if kidney trouble is permitted to continue, serious results are most likely to follow. Your other organs may need attention, but your kidneys must, because they do most and should have attention first. Therefore, when tire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. A trial will convince you of its great merit.

The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because its remarkable health restoring properties have been proven in thousands of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

Death Of Mr. And Mrs. Vester Brumfield's Son--Funeral Of Mrs. Riley Blair -Personal And Social Notes.

Mrs. L. C. Varble and children are visiting her mother, Mrs. Simmon, of Vanzant.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Dowell, Crafton Cashman, Ben Lay and daughter, Zelma, of Stephensport, spent Saturday here fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Varble spent Friday at Mystic the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Dowell.

Mrs. Sam McCoy and children left Friday for their new home at Medora.

Mr. and Mrs. Vester Brumfield have our deepest sympathy in the loss of their son, Hewett. The funeral was conducted by the Rev. Shepherd, of Hardinsburg, the interment being in the Sample cemetery. Those who attended the funeral from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Jim Will Lewis, of Ekron; Mr. and Mrs. Bruner, Mr. and Mrs. Saunders, of Ekron; Mr. and Mrs. Graham Jolly and family, of Cloverport; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Jolly, of Guston.

Master Shafter Dowell is expected home Saturday from Louisville where he is attending school.

Death has again claimed its victim. Mrs. Riley Blair died August 28th at her father's home. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Horsley. The funeral was conducted by Sister Dogans, of Kingswood, the interment was in the Sample cemetery. She leaves a husband, two little boys, two sisters, four brothers, father and mother to mourn their loss. Mrs. Blair was loved by all who knew her for her kind and gentle ways.

What Church and Church Members are Doing

"Almost every church in the world is trying in some way to improve its condition, to equip its facilities better for its great work, to improve the social life of its members, to use business methods in its finances.

"About half the churches fail in the last effort—which is the matter of finances. Why? Because each individual does not use God's plan for conducting the affairs of the church.

"If each member would give one-tenth of his income, then the church could be run on a perfect financial basis. And the burden of paying the pastor and meeting the church expenses would not fall on just a few. At the close of every year the members who have paid their church dues and assessments have to be called on to pay what the different members have not.

"Today, the church as an institution shows the marks of improvement more than the average church member in financial methods. It has adopted a system that is as good as any used by a commercial company.

"The church has a treasurer and assistants who look after all collections. Statements are mailed each month to every member and those who do not reply to these are visited by a collector who is paid a per cent on every dollar he collects.

"At the close of the year a printed report showing what each member has paid and all the cash receipts and disbursements, is published by the treasurer. This is a great satisfaction to every member and he can easily be acquainted with the church finances.

"Printed reports show that marvelous results come from the method of tithing and its success is as great today as it was thousands of years back in the day of Abram. "Printed Statements, Letter Heads, Envelopes, Reports of Finances, Minutes, Programs, Post Cards, Souvenirs, Cradle Rolls, and Church Advertising given special attention by

The Thing For Fall

Soft hats head the procession in fall hat styles, and Saks styles head the procession in soft hats.

Get a soft hat. For daily wear it is the most comfortable hat in the world, and it is so popular that it is sanctioned for evening wear with the dinner coat.

It is a compromise between the straw hat and the Derby, soft, warm, flexible in shape and fit, debonair in appearance, never out of shape, and brimming with style.

BOSS BRADLEY ON BOSS ROOSEVELT

In The Course Of His Speech At Hopkinsville, Colonel Bradley Has Much To Say About The Bossism Of The Bull Mooser.
Biggest Boss That Ever Lived

ATTACKS PROGRESSIVES TOO

"Penrose is denounced because he is charged to be a boss, while Flynn, who has been in the same business but lost out heretofore, is embraced as an angel of purity. Barnes is denounced as a boss while Perkins is held up for extravagant admiration. Gallinger is denounced as boss while Cecil Lyon is idolized. And so it is we hear constant preaching of Boss, Boss, Boss! The greatest boss who has ever lived in America is Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. For a long while he bossed the Republican party and when at length he failed, he bossed the creation of a new party, bossed his own nomination and is now trying to boss the people. He bossed both branches of Congress as long as he could. He bossed New York when he was Governor and the city of New York when he was Police commissioner, and yet as great a boss as he was, while President, he stood faithfully by Penrose, Aldrich, Cannon and others, whom he now abuses.

"Some of you are asked to leave the party of your fathers; others to vote against the party for whose policies you or your fathers fought and bled upon the field of battle. You are asked to desert the party which gave us a Lincoln, a Grant, a McKinley, a Garfield, a Blaine, a Conkling, and hundreds of other great Statesmen and warriors who, by sword and pen, have carved and written the brightest pages of American history. You are asked to desert the party which not only saved the Union and gave freedom to a race, but a party that has stood in the forefront in all the years of our existence in bringing about the progress and advancement of our country, until it has made it a World Power, the richest Nation on the globe, the workshop and granary of the world. And notwithstanding all this you are asked to desert this party—for an experiment.

"No sane man thinks that Mr. Roosevelt can be elected. It seems to me that his only hope and purpose is to defeat President Taft. To do this he would be willing to pull down the temple although it would destroy him self. But mark my words, when the people of this country shall fully understand the issues and shall fully comprehend the trend of affairs, there will be a turning to Mr. Taft not only from those who have started out to support Mr. Roosevelt, but from the Democrats as well, which will result in his triumphant election in November."

The Senator then attacked the men who compose the Progressives. Neither the leaders nor the men working in the ranks escaped the wrath of the Kentucky standpatter. He said that every man who applied to Taft for a job and failed to land one was an avowed supporter of Roosevelt, and that every man turned out of office is now an enthusiastic supporter of the Progressive party. The Senator said that every man who fondly imagines that he (not Bradley, but the man is a statesman, whose ability has been overlooked, is in the Roosevelt bandwagon.

It was then that the Senator made a very remarkable statement, charging that every man possessed with wild and anarchistic ideas is a supporter of Roosevelt.

An article that has real merit should in time become popular. That such is the case with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been attested by many dealers. Here is one of them. H. W. Hendrickson, Ohio Falls, Ind., writes, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best for coughs, colds and croup, and is my best seller." For sale by all dealers.

SEEMED A CROWD TO HIM

Inebriated Gentleman Evidently Was Not Viewing Things with an Eye
That Was Normal.

Big Bill Roberts, who holds the traffic post at the corner of Dey and Broadway, saw a taxicab approaching the other day, says the New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Times-Star. Inside were two men, quarreling violently. As the cab came to a halt, in obedience to Big William's semaphoring, Mr. Roberts observed that both gentlemen were perceptibly pickled. They looked and acted as if they had been running the Demon Rum into holes for a couple of days and then prodding him out again.

"Hey," said Policeman Roberts, "what's the matter here?"

The largest of the two gentlemen still preserved his dignity. "Nossin's marrer, offisher," he explained, laboriously. "On'y zish cab's too crowded. Some of us gotter get out."

Policeman Roberts thrust his head through the open window and looked them over. Then he expressed his surprise. "Why," said he, "there are only two of you in there."

The dignified gentleman looked at him fixedly for a moment. Then he, with some difficulty, withdrew his glazed gaze from the officer's eye and carefully looked about the interior of the cab. "Ish zha right, offisher?" he asked, plaintively.

Policeman Roberts assured him on the sacred honor of one of Commissioner Waldo's most fixed posts that he had told the truth. "On'l two of ush here, huh?" said the dignified person. "Well, zen, the driver can drive on. But it looks like more."

Running up and down stairs, sweeping and bending over making beds will not make a woman healthy or beautiful. She must get out of doors, walk a mile or two every day and take Chamberlain's Tablets to improve her digestion and regulate her bowels. For sale by all dealers.

SUBJECT KING VISITS PARIS

Bey of Tunis, Conquered by France, Said to Be an Enlightened and Educated Man.

An interesting guest of the French nation during the festivities on the national holiday was Sidi Mohammed en Naceur, the Bey of Tunis, who then returned the visit made to Tunis last year by President Fallieres.

When France, after a short campaign, took possession in 1881 of Tunis, the present Bey succeeded his cousin, Sidi Mohammed el Hadi. But the French did not follow in this colony their policy of Algeria; they left the Bey the empty honor of royalty.

As a matter of fact, as the head of the royal family and the local head of the church, his power is great, although outwardly he is a subject of the French conquerors.

He has accepted the role of vassal sovereign and Tunis is almost as peaceable as any French province, largely due to his influence. He is an accomplished scholar, has written books in French and encourages the education of his countrymen. Possibly he realizes that if he took a different course he might not be able to enjoy the palace that is one of the show sights of the suburbs of Tunis.

How The Tourists Got Even

Two tourists stranded in Potter county by the bursting of an auto tire put their machine in a farmer's barn while they journeyed several miles to a town garage. They were presented with a bill for $5 when they returned, and as the farmer was old and they paid up and then, to the agriculturist's surprise, invited him to take a ride.

After speeding across Potter county, through Canandaigua and Rochester to Batavia, N. Y., they released their "guest" and advised him to use his $5 to get back home with, which he was

Forgotten Whims:
They were mother and daughter traveling on the briny ocean. It was a cheap trip from Folkestone to Boulogne, and the sea was very rough.

Suddenly the daughter exclaimed: "Oh, mamma, it's coming on again worse than ever!"

"But, why, May," asked her mother, "did you not follow out the directions about which your father told you before you came on board?"

"Because," answered the daughter, in a faint voice, "I've forgotten whether I ought to breathe in as the vessel rises, and let the breath go out as it moves downward, or whether it ought to be the other way. And, oh—oh—oh, I wish I were dead!"—London Tit-Bits.

SOLDIER BOY

Writes Home. Would Rather Hear The Hounds Bark In Kentucky Than To Hear The Band Play In The Army

"I boarded the United States transport Sherman May 8 and landed in Honolulu May 18, making a distance of 2,300 miles. There were 1600 white men and 250 negro consuls going to Manila. You may know we had one time.

We are in camp 27 miles from Honolulu and come here on the Ohau railroad. The track is a three-foot gauge; it looks so queer. The little engines look like a toy but they sure can climb the mountains. It is a great place here; the climate can't be beat. We are 4,000 feet above sea level and there is always a fine sea breeze. The land is very rich and fertile. There is a red clay on the surface but there is rich soil under it. There is an abundance of fruit, such as pineapples, Bananas, coconuts and many other fruits. Sugar cane is the principal crop. There is many large sugar mills on the island. The island is small but it is considered one of the healthiest and richest islands on the Pacific. The natives here are Japs, Chinks and Canaekies. They raise an abundance of rice. There is plenty of good fishing and hunting; mountain goats and wild chickens.

I have hiked seven days since I enlisted; we have to hike around the island, it being 40 miles long and 20 miles wide. We always march around the beach and when stopping for camp, we have the evening for swimming and bathing. We go on maneuvers next month for two weeks. There will be the first infantry, second infantry, fifth cavalry and first field artillery. They expect a great time.

We have some pretty fast ball games here. The first infantry team won the pennant.

The army is all O. K. It is nice to work for Uncle Sam if you like it, but really, I would rather be back in old Kentucky fox hunting. I would rather hear the hounds bark than to hear the band play "The Star Spangled Banner." I often think of the pretty pictures that hang in the recruiting offices; they look real nice, and they catch the roakey's eye, but if he could see both sides he would plow corn. I think old Kentucky is large enough for me if I am lucky to get back."—From a Kentuckian.

PAPER BAG COOKING

Great System Perfected by M. Soyer, Famous London Chef.

CONVERTING THE COOK.

By Martha McCulloch Williams.
"But would it be easy to get the cook to take up Soyer's method of paper bag cooking?"

That question was put to me the other day by one of my friends who has been captivated with the paper-bag cooked luncheons and dinners. I have invited her to eat with me.

In reply to her query I told her how I had converted one cook to M. Soyer's method with one "demonstration." This particular queen of the kitchen was a Creole cook who has followed her "Madam" up North away from the delights of her native New Orleans. She feels that she knows pretty well all that is to be known about cooking, especially in the finer parts, and not without reason.

Because her "madam" is my friend, and had eaten things out of paper bags, the cook was sent to see the new method for herself. Less than respectful she cannot possibly be—especially toward one whose cookery she had deigned to approve, yet I was conscious of a certain bewildered amusement in her; her eyes were hawk-keen as she watched me grease bags and slip into the biggest of them well seasoned fillets of blue fish, along with a thinly sliced onion, tomatoes, peeled and sliced, a good lump of butter, and a generous squeeze of lemon juice.

I then bagged some very firm, almost green, unpeeled bananas, putting in with them a little water, and finding the trivet that would best fit the remaining shelf-space. I saw my critic smile—a faint fleeting ghostly smile, and look affectionately at the scrubbing brush. I was sure she saw herself mentally undoing the tragic results of my doing, by scrubbing hot in the broiler-space beneath the oven, shielded from burning by the inverted broiler pan.

I was getting a hurry luncheon—partly because there was need of haste, partly to show my pupil how quickly things could be done. A lemon pie and fresh biscuit were kept hot in the broiler-space beneath the oven, shielded from burning by the inverted broiler pan.

Adele, the cook, had not seen them. I meant them for the finishing stroke.

After five minutes a look-in showed bag-corners brown, so I turned off one gas jet and busied myself getting dishes hot. At the end of ten minutes I took them out.

Adele was staring at the bag. It was brown, almost crisp at the corners, but only lightly tinged on top, and underneath as sound and tough as when it went in. Yet she had seen bananas come out of it—and her judgment assured her that they were thoroughly, and beautifully cooked. But she was still doubtful.

"Maybe hit is good for things that don't take long," she said. "But I'd be 'feard ter trus' hit wid all my dinner."

By time the bananas were out of hand, the fish was ready—six fair-sized fillets made a brave showing in the platter, with the tomatoes splashed over them, the onion showing pearl rings in their red. Supplemented with the potatoes, which came out thoroughly cooked and a delicate brown, and the bananas, they made a satisfying meal.

"Miss Molly, says you tole her you kin bake fish, and meat and roas' chickens in dese things?" Adele said interrogatively as she stood surveying the uncluttered sink, where never a pot or pan waited her skilled touch.

"You can cook almost anything you like," I answered. "But first you must take the trouble to learn how."

Adele nodded thoughtfully. "Yes-um," she said. "I ain't as young as I used ter be—but I sho'ly is goin' ter learn how, and den I won't has any pots and kittles to scrub."

BOYS' HANDICRAFT

By A. NEELY HALL

Author of "Handicraft for Handy Boys" and "The Boy Craftsman"

A WINDMILL CLOTHES DRYER.

The model from which the clothes dryer shown in Fig. 1 was patterned has been in use for a number of years, and except when not a breath of air is stirring, its little fleet of yachts, whose sails form the paddles of the windmill, sail around the circular course continuously. The best feature of this windmill is its combination with the clothes dryer, which makes it a practical toy that will serve the laundress excellently on wash day.

If there is a clothes post in the center of the yard, its top may be used for a support, otherwise, you will have to put up a post. A two-by-four will serve the purpose for this. Set it about 18 inches into the ground, and then brace it at the base with diagonal pieces.

Strips one inch thick and two inches wide may be used for the arms of the windmill dryer, but if you can get pieces two inches thick they will, of course, be so much stronger. Cut the arms six feet long, and bevel their ends as in Fig. 3 (A), cutting the lower ends to fit the base board, B, and the upper ends to fit the blocks, C. The upper end of the arms should be about two feet higher than the lower end, which will determine the angle of the bevels. Cut the base block, B, eight inches square, and bore a three-fourths-inch hole through its center for the king-bolt, D, and cut the blocks, C, about two and one-half inches wide by ten inches long. Nail blocks, C, to the upper ends of the arms, and drive the nail, E, into each block near the inner end. Either bolt or screw the longer ends of the arms to block, B, placing ing the arms as shown in Fig. 2. Fasten with only one bolt or screw, first, then connect nails, E, on each opposite pair of arms with the wire brace, F (Fig. 3). These wires should be cut about one foot longer than the distance between the nails and be twisted back on themselves at one end, as shown in Figs. 3 and 4; then a nail can be slipped through one of the loops and be used as a lever to twist the wire to take up the slack, in adjusting the arm ends to the proper heights. The distances between the arm ends should be carefully measured, and the arms shifted from side to side until these are all the same; then the lower ends should be fastened securely with a second bolt or screw.

The hulls of the little yachts need not be as perfectly made as would be necessary for sailing in water, because these yachts depend entirely upon their sails; however, for the sake of appearance, it is well to make them as shapely as possible. They can be cut out quickly. Fig. 5 shows a top view of the hull with the dimensions marked upon it. Make the bottom flat enough to provide a nailing surface for fastening the yachts to the blocks, C. Cut the mast, G, and the boom, H, about the length of the hull, and the gaff, I, about seven inches long, and fasten wire loops to the ends of both the boom and the gaff, as shown in Fig. 7, to fit over the mast. A brad driven through the mast, just below the proper heights for the boom and gaff, will prevent the loops from sliding down the mast. Use heavy muslin for the sails, and fasten them to the mast, boom and gaff sticks with heavy linen thread. Brace the mast as shown, and fasten a small pennant to the mast-head.

The peg, J (Figs. 5 and 6), is necessary to prevent the boom from swinging over the port side of the yacht. By this arrangement, the yachts will always sail counter clockwise, no matter which way the wind is blowing, provided you mount the yachts with their bows headed in this direction.

Pivot the base block, B, to the post support with a five-eighths-inch bolt about 5 inches long. Bore a five-eighths-inch hole into the top of the post to receive the end of the bolt, and in mounting the base block place several washers between it and the post. Screw one-half-inch screw-eyes into the ends of blocks, C (M), and also into each of the arms at N and O, as shown in Fig. 3, to slip clothes-lines through. It is not necessary to cut a clothes-line into pieces, for after running it through one row of screw-eyes, it may be run down to the next row below, and so on through all the eyes.

AGAIN THE DRUMMER'S WILES

This Time Whole Caricards of Men Are the Victims of His "Vercarious" Imagination.

"Yes," said the drummer for a grocery house. "I am on my way east to reap the reward of virtue. This may seem improbable to you, but right here in my pocket I have a letter from a Philadelphia law firm which says that a gentleman dying a few days ago left me $5,000 in his will."

"Relative, of course?" was observed.
"No, sir. Not even an acquaintance. In fact, I never even saw the man in my life. I can't say that I ever heard his name until I received this letter."

"He must have been a queer man to have left $5,000 to a perfect stranger?"
"I agree with you there," said the drummer, "but I suppose it all came about through his wife. Five years ago I rode in the same palace car with her from Chicago to Pittsburgh. Our seats were just opposite. She was young and handsome and alone. She intuitively knew I was a drummer—one of the best in the country—and she expected that I would buy the magazines for her or make some other excuse to start a conversation. Then would come chin-chin and flattery, and I would propose an elopement."

"And, of course, it all happened?"
"You wrong me, sir. That's where my $5,000 comes in. I never looked her square in the face once during the long journey. I ignored her as if she did not exist. She must have been dreadfully puzzled over the matter, and told her husband when she got home. He probably employed a private detective to ascertain my name and address, and then added a codicil to his will. Gentlemen, let my case be a shining example to you and—"

And he rose up and went up the aisle and sat down beside the only female on the car, who was a very lovely, lonely girl, and he began to tell jokes and stories and make her laugh, and the other five kicked each other and said that he ought to be flung off the train for the way he had euchered them.—Baltimore American.

Thoroughly Up-to-Date.

"Hallo!" Jellinson cried, as he encountered his acquaintance Barwood in the street. "Thought you were getting married today. Postponed?"

"Altogether," answered Barwood, firmly.

"Not even engaged now, then?" pursued Jellinson.

"No. The lady I was to have married was too modern—too up-to-date for me."
"Up-to-date!" The excuse astonished Jellinson. "How on earth—"
"Wrote her last Monday saying I was coming to see her on Wednesday. You see, I'd never formally proposed, and she seemed to want it. So I went on Wednesday—just to satisfy her whim, as I thought. Got there and found she had sold the rights of photographing me at the moment of proposing to a cinematograph company. "That settled it!"—Tit-Bits.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE

May patent line of 2,000-acre survey; then with said line S. 24 poles to the beginning, containing 18 33-100 acres, more or less."

Or sufficient thereof to produce the sums of money so ordered to be made. For the purchase price, the purchaser, with approved surety or securities, must execute bond, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment. Lien retained to secure payment of purchase money. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms. Approximated debt, interest and cost, $2,286.63.

LEE WALLS,
Commissioner.
CARRIE L. WALLS,
Deputy.

OWNED HISTORIC OLD HOTEL

Proprietor of Structure Built Around Cabin of Captured British Frigate Is Dead.

Jacob Smith, hotel proprietor of City Island, New York, died there at the age of seventy-three years. Mr. Smith's hotel has for years been one of the show places on the island. It was known as the Macedonian hotel, because it was built around the cabin of the British frigate Macedonia, which was captured by the United States frigate Decatur off Cape Verde islands during the war of 1812. After the engagement the Macedonia was towed to what is known as Cow Bay, City Island, and there Smith acquired it in 1874, pulled it on land and structurally added to it. In time he had a building large enough to accommodate a number of persons.

Three years ago a member of a historical society in England, which had learned of the existence of the Macedonia, came to City Island and offered Mr. Smith $30,000 for it, but he would not sell. He said he wanted it to remain in the family, which consists of seven daughters and two sons.

Fortunate Little Waif.

A romantic history attaches to a pretty little foundling at present being cared for in the West Ham and Eastern General hospital, London, England. A Stratford resident going home late one recent night heard a cry, the wail of a newly born child. He jumped over into a field situated in Knox road, struck a match, and discovered a bonny baby boy. The man conveyed the child to the police, who in turn took it to the West Ham hospital. "We could not think of sending him to the workhouse," the kindly ward sister stated, "and he is now the little 'duke of the ward.' He is daily gaining strength to fight the world, and we should like to find a good home for baby very soon. We called him 'Peter' to bring the little fellow good luck, and the cabbage patch is where he was found." This little foundling, who is quite alone in the world, has big blue eyes and pretty fair hair. He sleeps all day in a cozy hammock cradle in one of the children's wards, and is beloved by nurses and patients alike.
